A young child, possibly a boy, is standing outdoors in a grassy area. The child is wearing a dark blue or black jacket with red accents and a striped beanie in shades of blue and white. The child is holding a white rectangular sign with black text. In their left hand, they are also holding a clear plastic bag containing several long, golden-brown loaves of bread. The background shows a wooden structure, possibly a bridge or a walkway, and some trees and foliage. The lighting suggests it's daytime.
